The Lafayette chapter of the American Association of Drilling Engineers has helped 36 UL students receive well-control training through Wild Well Control Inc. The students completed International Association of Drilling Contractors WellCAP training, which covered well control theory, techniques and equipment. The students received WellCAP certification for their participation. The initiative was funded with the AADE Lafayette and national chapters, in conjunction with the UL petroleum engineering department. ... ERA Stirling Properties recently received some national recognition from global real estate leader ERA Franchise Systems.

With more than $9.6 million in total adjusted gross commission and 1,756 residential units closed last year, ERA Stirling Properties ranked third in both categories among companies of comparable size. The award was announced at the 2009 ERA International Business Conference in San Antonio.
