

News Clips Report

PEOPLE IN BUSINESS

Advocate, The

06/19/2010

Elizabeth Griffin has been named facility manager by Wampold Companies.

She was a project manager and property manager for MBD Construction.

Teri Fontenot, president and chief executive officer of Womens Hospital, has been appointed chairwoman of the chief executive officers committee of the American College of Healthcare Executives.

The committee is made up of nine CEOs appointed by the board of governors to assist the organization with providing resources to CEOs

Business micro-lender Accion Texas-Louisiana has named Charles L. Chuck Bell as vice president of operations in its office in Baton Rouge, also overseeing offices in Alexandria, New Orleans and Shreveport.

He was owner of Money Source Inc. in Prairieville.

Charles DAGostino, executive director of the Louisiana Business and Technology Center at LSUs E.J. Ourso College of Business, has been named to the higher education adviser committee affiliated with the International Economic Development Council in Washington, D.C.

The goal of the group is to help economic developers and higher education work collaboratively to grow jobs, investment and talent in a knowledge-based economy.

Michael L. Garner has been named chief financial officer of the LSU Alumni Association.

Garner was vice president of finance at Capital Area United Way.

Tom Carville, of Carco Awards, has been elected to a three-year term on the national Awards and Recognition Associations board of directors, made up of seven retailers and seven wholesalers.

Carville also was appointed to serve on the ARA communications committee.

Michael A. Patterson, a partner with Long Law Firm LLP in its Baton Rouge office, was installed as president of the Louisiana State Bar Association.

Named to the board of governors from Baton Rouge for the Fifth District were Darrel J. Papillion, a partner at Walters, Papillion, Thomas, Cullens LLC; for LSUs Paul M. Hebert Law Center, John M. Church, the centers Harry S. Redmon Jr. Professor of Law; and for the Louisiana State Law Institute, John David Ziober, of-counsel at Guglielmo, Marks, Shutte, Terhoeve and Love.

Installed as Young Lawyers Section council members from District 5 were Kyle A. Ferachi and Christopher K. Jones, both from Baton Rouge.

Mark S. Wilson has been named general manager of the Cook Hotel and Conference Center at LSU.

He was director of marketing and sales for the Roosevelt New Orleans.

Gretchen Dauterive, Stirling Properties commercial sales and leasing executive, has been named program planning committee chair for the International Council of Shopping Centers Next Generation Program.

Dauterive will work to help develop program content for Next Generation events in and around Louisiana.