

ERA Stirling Properties' Stacey Boudreaux receives accredited buyer's representative designation

BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA (JULY 20, 2009) – ERA Stirling Properties' Stacey Boudreaux, sales associate in the Ascension Office, recently received the Accredited Buyer's Representative (ABR) Designation. This coveted designation is awarded by the Real Estate Buyer's Agent Council (REBAC) www.REBAC.net, an affiliate of the National Association of REALTORS®.

Realtors who receive the ABR Designation must complete the specified educational and practical experience criteria set fourth by the council within a three-year period. The criterion includes: completing a two-day ABR designation course in which a minimum of 80% passing grade on the final exam is achieved, the successful completion of an ABR elective course, and the completion of five documented and verifiable transactions as a buyer's representative (no dual agency).

In the state of Louisiana, Mrs. Boudreaux joins 337 other agents who've committed to providing buyers a higher level of service and expertise. A little over 30,000 real estate professionals in North America have earned the ABR designation which is the benchmark of excellence in buyer representation.

For all your real estate needs, contact Stacey Boudreaux (225) 677-5014, at the ERA Stirling Properties' Ascension office located at 17581 Old Jefferson Hwy in Prairieville.
