

The Advocate

Baton Rouge, LA

Daily & Sunday
(Dly 100,748; Sun 126,468)

August 1, 2010

BUSINESS HONORS

Attorneys Lexi Holinga, of Taylor Porter Brooks & Phillips; Christopher K. Jones, of Keogh, Cox & Wilson Ltd.; and Michelle M. Sorrels, of Walters, Papillion, Thomas, Cullens LLC, have been named fellows of the Louisiana Bar Foundation.

The foundation works to enhance the legal profession, increase public understanding of the legal system and promote equal justice under the law.

Smiley Anders, columnist for The Advocate, won second place in the National Society of Newspapers Columnists' annual writing contest. It was the ninth time Anders has won first or second place in the Herb Caen Awards/items category.

Stacey Boudreaux, a sales associate in the Ascension office of ERA Stirling Properties, received the Accredited Buyer's Representative Designation awarded by the Real Estate Buyer's Agent Council, an affiliate of the National Association of Realtors. Realtors must meet specific educational and practical experience criteria and pass an exam.

Brett Ashy, president/principal of The Ashy Agency and Lafayette native, was awarded the PromaxBDA award for distinguished service.

PromaxBDA is the professional organization for individuals and companies who create international advertising and marketing campaigns for television networks and programming.

LSU Health received Press Club of New Orleans journalism and public relations awards in the radio public service announcement category, with Dr. Charles Zewe and Marvin McGraw receiving first and second place; and in the annual report category, with McGraw and Michael Higgins receiving first place.