The 39,000-square-foot Skate Galaxy building on Jefferson Highway and 3 acres of adjoining land has been sold. Red Rock Adventure Sports, a business headed by Doug Foval, bought the building for about $2.5 million and the land for $620,000, says Ben Stalter, an agent with Stirling Properties who helped close the deal. In the next year and a half, Red Rock Adventure Sports plans to build a wall for indoor rock climbing and a wind tunnel to simulate parachuting, Stalter says.
