

Hammond Square celebrated its grand reopening on Oct. 1. Stirling Properties spent roughly $100 million to buy the original 430,000-square-foot Hammond Square Mall—a 1970s-era design disaster—demolish it, and create a new open-air power/lifestyle center twice the original size.